language is used as a communication tool to interact with others and has important role in human life.

According to Algeo (2010), "a language is a system of conventional vocal signs by means of which human beings communicate" (p. 2).

Therefore, language is as a communication tool to connect people with each other. Without language, it is difficult for people to communicate with others.

Writing is one of language skills which should be maximally taught and practiced by the teacher in learning process.

According to Patel and Jain (2008), writing is a skill which should be taught and practiced (p. 125). It means that if the students learn good writing skill so they will be able to write easily.

However, writing is considered as the most difficult skill to be taught and learnt. Writing is extremely not an easy task for both teachers and students because writing involves many linguistic aspects such as grammar, vocabulary, spelling, pronunciation, etc. Based on Barkaoui (2007), "writing is one of the most difficult skills that second language (L2) learners are expected to acquire, and to require the mastery of a variety of linguistics, cognitive, and sociocultural competencies" (p. 35).

Moreover, students' problems in writing text were influenced by several factors such as the method which is used to teach writing in English lesson is writing individually. The teacher asks the students to write or to make paragraph individually.

The problems faced in the class are sometimes the students have difficulties to build and develop their ideas, choose the right dictions, lack of vocabulary and use the grammar. Therefore, the teacher must be creative in choosing the technique in teaching and learning process and also provides interesting media.

To overcome the problems, the writer does believe that choosing appropriate technique is an effective way to increase the students' writing. One of the technique which is appropriate to be used for teaching writing is Dictogloss.

Dictogloss is a technique which originally intended by its creator, Ruth Wajnryb in 1990. She states that dictogloss is a technique in which short pieces of language are read out at normal speed to students. In addition, dictogloss is a technique which integrates the four-skills through group works to reconstruct students' own versions (Jacobs, G. & Small, J., 2003).

Wajnryb (1990) also mentioned the aims of dictogloss (p. 6) are as follows: 1) It aims at providing an opportunity for learners to use their productive grammar in the task of text creation. Learner's linguistic resources are called upon as they pool their fragmented notes and consider the various language options; 2) It aims at encouraging learners to find out what they do and do not know about English. This is realized in the attempts to reconstruct the text and in the subsequent analysis of those attempts; 3) It aims at upgrading and refining the learner's use of the language through a comprehensive analysis of language options in the correction of the learner's approximate texts.

LITERATURE REVIEW

Writing is one of the four language skills besides listening, speaking, and reading. It is an activity in arranging words, phrases, and sentences that is grammatically correct and appropriate with its purpose. Generally, writing is able to be interpreted as the act of forming or tracing a character on paper or other suitable materials with a pen or pencil. According to Nunan (2003), writing is the process of thinking to invent ideas, thinking about how to express and convey into good writing, and arranging the ideas into paragraph clearly (p. 88).

Another definition is given by Linse (2006), writing is a combination of process and product (p. 91).

The process refers to the act of gathering ideas and working with them until they are presented in a manner that is polished and comprehensible to readers.

According to Zemach and Rumisek (2005), it is stated that descriptive paragraph explains how person or something looks or feels and a process to explain how something is done (p. 25). In addition, Pardiyono (2007) states that description paragraph is a type of written text paragraph which has the specific function to describe about an object (living or non-living things) and it has the aim that is giving description of the object to the reader clearly (p. 34).
